All in all, things are looking pretty good.

Thirty-year-old Elle Matheson has decided it's finally time to find the mother who gave her up as a baby. With a faded postcard from the Café Belle Vie in hand – one of the very few things she has from her mother – she heads straight to the île de Ré to begin her search. With only the postcard and the ivory shawl she was wrapped in as clues, finding her mum is like trying to find a needle in a haystack, even with the help of friendly – and gorgeous – café-owner Charlie. And since Elle hasn't exactly told her younger sister what she's up to, the little white lies about where she is are starting to add up. But Elle is really starting to feel at home on the beautiful island. The locals are welcoming, the café is homely, and Charlie is always there with a helping hand, a listening ear, and a pain au chocolat. Is Elle about to discover not just where she came from – but where she belongs?

But Kat's not the only person trying to ignore the festivities. Ryan Sadler is also hiding out at the café, and though there's a spark between them, Kat is determined to get through Christmas with no tinsel, no fuss – and definitely no romance.

Is this all there is? I scraped the last dregs of Caramel Chew Chew ice cream out of the bottom of the tub with my finger and licked it. It left a sticky smear on my phone's screen when I typed into Google, "How to find love, sex and happiness."

Charlotte has always been a good girl. But being good is getting boring...

She's not just stuck in a rut – she's buried in it up to her chin. The only company she has in bed is the back catalogue of Netflix and falling in love feels like the stuff of fairy tales. So when she stumbles across a popular podcast, 'Sorry Not Sorry', which challenges women to embrace their inner bad girl, she jumps at the chance to shake things up.

Old Charlotte would never ask for a stranger's number, go on a blind date or buy lacy lingerie... But New Charlotte is waving goodbye to her comfort zone (with a side order of margaritas). And it turns out that good things happen to bad girls...

I'm Mac. But you already know that, right? You probably even recognize the sound of my voice. Because I'm the radio host that wakes most of Sacramento up every morning. I'm the DJ that most of the women in Sacramento lust after.

Everyone knows me, knows my reputation: ladies' man, bad boy, eternally single commitment-phobe.

I have my own reasons for needing to stay single, my own demons to battle with. Scars that don't show, but that stop me from getting close to anyone.

Except, after one hell of a drunken accident, I've woken up married. To a gorgeous green-eyed girl, Kelley, I only met yesterday in a coffee shop. A killer hangover later, it turns out that this playboy is off the market.

But there are three problems:

- 1) I'm married to a girl I met less than twenty-four hours ago.
- 2) No woman has ever been able to change my ways – who says that Kelley's going to be any different?
- 3) Kelley must be the one lady in this city who doesn't know who I am – and that means she doesn't know about my past, about the issues that haunt me.

So I might be taken, but the question is, for how long?

Of course, it isn't really just toothpaste... it's everything! No sex life, adult children who keep ping-pong-ing back, and a house down-size to Rose Cottage, a tumble-down affair with a seriously neglected garden. Add the menopause and a naughty pooch, and it's no wonder that Lucy feels stressed. And then along comes gorgeous builder Will, ten years younger and constantly under Lucy's feet while he does up the house. His twinkly eyes and blowtorch smile are causing Lucy to break out in a hot sweat – but is it love, lust or simply dodgy hormones that are causing her heart to flutter? Everyone knows that little things build up. And then they explode. Lucy's last straw might not be something she's able to get over...

As always at the Cambridge constabulary, the case turns personal. Detective Blake is exhausted after the arrival of a new baby with wayward wife Babette, and Tara is keen to put as much distance between herself and Blake as she can – both at the station and on the hunt for the killer. Charming rookie officer Jez is the perfect distraction... but is he a little too good to be true?

Then Tara makes a startling breakthrough when she finds an unsettling family heirloom hidden in the late victim's bedroom – a golden statue of a sinister-looking cat with emerald eyes. As she traces its origins, Tara begins to realise that Julie's murder is no one-off crime, but a sinister plot with its roots in a terrible secret that was covered up decades earlier.
