

ROSE RAVENTHORPE INVESTIGATES

ENTER THE VICTORIAN WORLD OF SCHOOLGIRL DETECTIVE
ROSE RAVENTHORPE.

FULL OF MYSTERY, MURDER AND A SECRET SOCIETY OF BUTLERS...

Queen Victoria was on the throne for 64 years – the second longest reigning monarch after Elizabeth II, our current Queen

The police force was created

An education law was passed making it compulsory for children aged 5–12 to attend school

Boys as young as four would climb up chimneys and sweep them for the rich

IN VICTORIAN TIMES
(1837-1901):

The population of Great Britain grew from 16 million to 37 million

Industry boomed because of the rise of steam power

York, Rose's home city, housed Britain's largest railway station

Most pickpockets were aged under 20
