THE INSIDE MAN

The DCI Jack Parker Series

TREVOR WOOD

Book two in the thrilling Newcastle-set police series with a twist.

DCI Jack Parker faces a triple threat.

Haunted by the death of a colleague in an unsolved hit-and-run, he foolishly encourages her replacement, DS Emma Steel, to get close to a dangerous local gangster who knows more than he's letting on.

Then he's called in to investigate the disappearance of a young woman and her son. His boss tells him to focus on her ex-husband, but Jack has his doubts, until a body turns up.

Meanwhile, he's taking part in the clinical trial of a new dementia drug, the side effects of which, much like his job, might kill him.

As Jack's headaches, quite literally, get worse, he comes to understand that nothing in this world is as black and white as it seems.

BOOKISH

MATTHEW SWEET

Based on Mark Gatiss's brand new TV series set in post-war London, Bookish follows an enigmatic bookshop owner who helps the local police solve crimes.

'My name's Book,' said Book. 'Book's books. Confusing, I know. Or is it handy? I can never decide. Anyway. I'm Book and I run a bookshop. This one, obviously. You must be here about the job? Tea?'

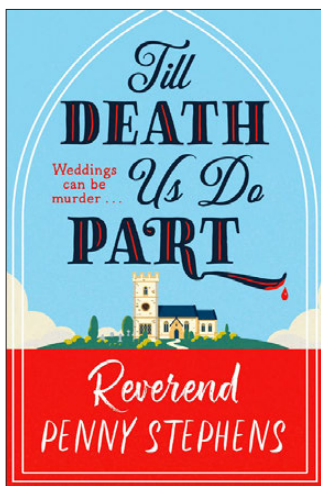

Gabriel Book is an erudite and unconventional London bookseller married to Trottie, the owner of the wallpaper shop next door. He is also a sleuth who uses the chaotic riches of his stock to crack the puzzling cases that come his way.

He does not work alone. Book's shop is a magnet for waifs and strays – some of whom bring mysteries of their own to his door. There's Nora, sometime bookseller and true crime enthusiast; Dog, connoisseur of ginger biscuits and then Jack, whose arrival to the shop forces Book to confront a loose end from his own past.

Clever, endearing and entertaining, Bookish is a warm-hearted and unexpected mystery, about books, murder and the secrets we all keep.

Matthew Sweet is co-writer, with Mark Gatiss, of Bookish. Sweet is, in various guises, a radio presenter, television and radio programmer, film critic, fashion columnist, film maker and former chocolate-related Guinness World record holder.

TILL DEATH US DO PART REVEREND PENNY STEPHENS

The charming and delightfully cosy debut crime novel from Reverend Penny Stephens.

Reverend Clare Brakespear is used to a challenge. With a young family to wrangle, a parish to manage and a particularly excitable Golden Retriever by her side, life is never dull.

But when she attends a wedding where one of the guests is fatally stabbed with a cake knife, even Clare admits that she might have been given too much to handle this time.

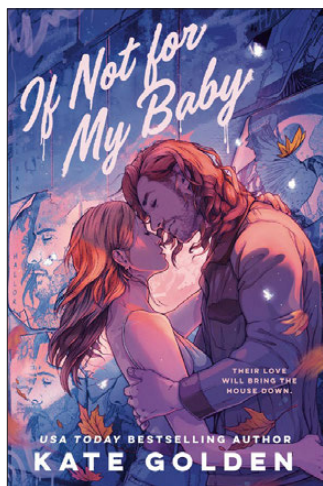

As the police investigate the murder, they zero-in on one woman as their prime suspect, who they believe had the motive, means and opportunity to commit the crime. The trouble is, Clare is convinced that they have the wrong person. She might not understand forensic testing and finger-tip searches, but if there's one thing Clare does know, it's people and the complexities of their emotional lives. So she decides to take matters into her own hands.

However, investigating a murder is no mean feat and Clare soon finds herself embroiled in a complex web of family secrets and deceptions. Is she in way over her head or can she find the real killer before an innocent woman is sent down?

'Get ready to welcome a new star in the crime-writing firmament' Elly Griffiths

Reverend Penny Stephens was a vicar in a village parish before working as a hospice chaplain in East London and Kent. She now takes services in the Diocese of Rochester, where she is an Honorary Canon of the Cathedral. Till Death Us Do Part is her debut novel.

Fleeing Scotland in the wake of family disgrace, 16-year-old Ida Campbell secures a scholarship at a failing girls' boarding school on a remote part of the south English coast. But all this is about to change. For a start, her new room-mate is the infamous Louise Adler, potential arsonist and hardened outcast.

Meanwhile, the geography teacher Eleanor Alston, in her late thirties, a disastrous love affair in her wake, faces the new term with weary resignation. But the fragile ecosystem of the school is disrupted by the arrival of a new teacher, Matthew Langfield. Eleanor has an uneasy feeling he is not who he says he is.

What is happening to the girls of St Anne's? Could there be a poisoner among them? Is Ida's scholarship really an escape, or is it instead a new nightmare?

THE LIFE AND DEATH OF PETER SELLERS

ROGER LEWIS

With a new foreword by Steve Coogan.

This is a new edition of a no-holds-barred classic, in which Roger Lewis exposed a personality of whom the world knew little.

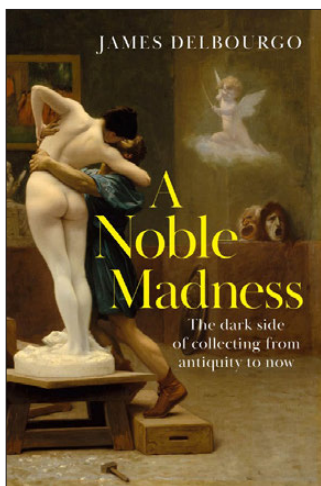

Shadowing Peter Sellers' phenomenal career as the world's highest paid film star was a history of increasingly maniacal and bizarre behaviour involving psychotic violence, sinister home-movies, compulsive promiscuity, drug abuse and humiliating self-destructive obsessions with women including Princess Margaret, Sophia Loren, Liza Minnelli and each of his four wives (Ann Hayes, Britt Ekland, Miranda Quarry and Lynne Frederick). Sellers alternately showered his wives, girlfriends and children with gifts and then threatened to kill them. His fluidity as an actor made for a terrifying madness that grew like a cancer.

The Life and Death of Peter Sellers originally ended with Sellers' premature death at the age of 54. For this edition, published for the centenary of Sellers' birth, Roger Lewis has written an extensive new essay, to describe his subject's colourful afterlife.

Roger Lewis is a Sunday Times bestselling author.

His most recent book, Erotic Vagrancy: Everything about Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor was described by Stephen Fry as: 'One of the very best biographies I have ever read'.

A NOBLE MADNESS

The dark side of collecting from antiquity to now

JAMES DELBOURGO

'Compulsive and entertaining' Stephen Fry

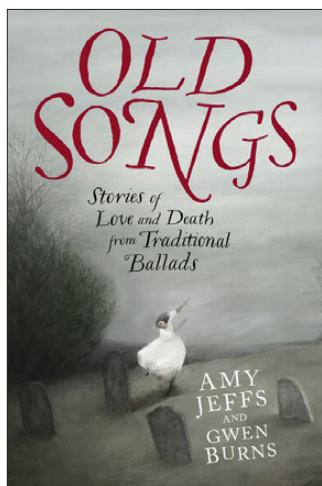

A captivating history of obsessive collectors: from ancient looters and idolaters to fin de siècle decadents, Freudian psychos, and hoarders.

Collectors are often praised for their taste in art or contributions to science, but there can be a darker side: their passion is sometimes driven by dangerous obsession. Roman emperors who lusted after statues; Chinese scholars obsessed with rocks and flowers; fin de siècle dandies surrounded by bibelots. History is full of stories about those who love things more than people, presenting a danger either to themselves or others.

In this sweeping history from antiquity to today, James Delbourgo tells the extraordinary story of the mad collector as a cultural figure from the tyrant and idolater to the sexually repressed 'psycho' of the Freudian imagination and the modern-day hoarder. His conclusion is surprising: Because they are driven by passion rather than profit, obsessive collectors also have been cultural heroes, seen as authentic and true to themselves. Some may be mad, but theirs is a noble madness.

James Delbourgo is recognized as the leading academic authority on the history of science and imperialism in the early modern world.

OLD SONGS

Stories of Love and Death from Traditional Ballads

AMY JEFFS

Old Songs is a compendium that fuses short stories, lyrics and illustrations in a mesmerising reimagining of traditional ballads.

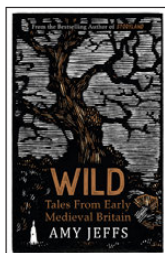

Featuring iterations of fairy tales and sinister descendants of Greek myths and bible stories, as well as a cast of lesser-known characters like Tam Lin, Child Wynd and Maisery, Old Songs threads a tapestry of Britain's landscape, history and cultures. At the base of hills we can visit to this day, elf queens kidnap hapless poets and carry them through rivers of blood; and at the foot of a tree whose offspring still stand in the forests of Northumberland, a girl mimes combing the hairless head of a dragon who was once her brother.

In spellbinding tales of brown-skinned girls who danced on their lovers' graves, of golden-masted ships captained by the Devil, of fiddles that cried 'Murder!', of men kidnapped by fairies and boys married at fourteen, we find narrative motifs as ancient as humanity itself.

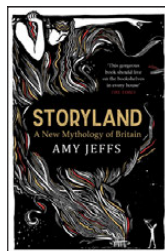

In the histories interconnecting the stories, we find the fantastical rooted in the everyday, bringing to light the real experiences of great swathes of people to whom such story-songs were not only familiar, but a way of escaping into the extraordinary and returning gratefully home. Bringing enchantment to familiar landscapes, ballads were created anew by each singer and passed down from fireside to fireside. Now, ten stories are gathered here, beautifully recreated and illustrated for modern readers.

NO SAFER KINDER HATRED

How Racial Hatred and Ethnic Violence Shaped Zimbabwe

FRANK THABANI SAYI

A moving and beautifully written memoir about growing up in colonial Rhodesia in the 1970s and of the realities of a war-torn childhood.

Frank Sayi grew up in Rhodesia, now Zimbabwe, in the 1970s. His childhood straddled two very significant periods in his country's history, both of which heavily influenced his memoir. The first was the war of liberation (1975-1979), closely followed by the post-independence internecine war (1981-1987).

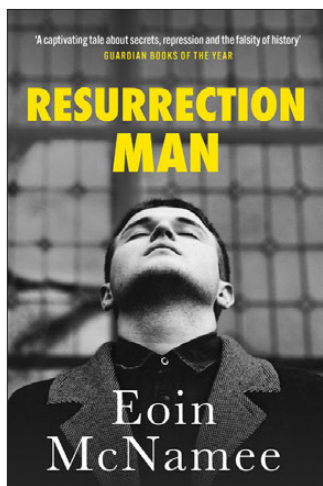

Crucially, Frank was raised in a native reserve in colonial Rhodesia, a country under white minority rule, governed by Ian Smith's racist and illegal regime. Native reserves were places of repression, and containment – replete of hope.

Frank and his two older sisters, Thoko and Gift, lived with their grandmother, a stern, wise, mercurial matriarch, capable of intimidating severity, and her son Uncle Sami. Frank's mother, the main breadwinner, lived in the city. Frank and his siblings didn't see much of her; in his mind she was just another sister.

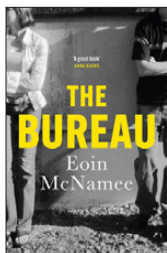

Frank's memoir showcases human capacity for extraordinary violence, but also, compassion, endurance, survival and the triumph of the human spirit. It binds together the narratives from two wars and acts as lens through which the implications of political violence in Zimbabwe can be understood. Frank goes beyond and beneath standard historical narratives of war and examines the psychological impact of war on ordinary people.

Frank Thabani Sayi was born in Rhodesia, now Zimbabwe, in the late 1960s, on the cusp of the war of independence or The Bush War. He holds a Doctorate in English and Humanities and a Masters in Cultural and Critical Studies, both from Birkbeck, University of London.

'An extraordinary book, illuminating not only the political map of Belfast but also the dark ring-roads of collective memory and the secret blueprints inside our heads' Daily Telegraph

Eoin McNamee is the author of eight novels including Resurrection Man, later filmed, and the Blue Trilogy. His work has been nominated for and won many major prizes including the Booker Prize, the Gordon Burn Prize, the Kerry Fiction Prize, the Imison Award and the CWA Steel Dagger. HENRY JAMES

Henry James's later works, where he battles with the horrors of self-evaluation.

THE UNWORTHY

ROY JACOBSEN

GENERATION GDR

Truth, Freedom and One Man's Last Journey

PETER WENSIERSKI

Translated by Jamie Bulloch

A gripping account of East Germany in the late '70s and early '80s, for readers of Beyond the Wall.

Friday, April 10th, 1981: 23-year-old Mathias Domaschk boards the fast train from Jena to Berlin, on his way to a birthday party. But he never arrives...

The packed train is held up en route, and Mathias and three of his friends are apprehended, suspected of being part of a cell intent on disrupting the socialist party congress. Forty-eight hours later he is dead, following interrogation in the Stasi detention centre in Gera.

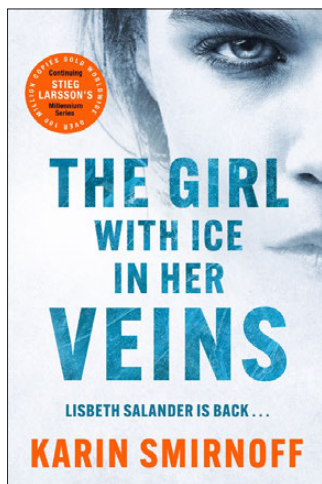

What happened over those two days?

Peter Wensierski's captivating book draws on multiple witness statements and extensive Stasi documentation to build a riveting and dramatic account, switching between Mathias's journey and Stasi activities up to and through his arrest. He also places this tragedy against its broader political and social context to reveal the lives of a whole generation of young East Germans who just wanted live freely.

Part reportage, part true crime, Generation GDR offers unique insights into the secret corridors of an authoritarian regime and delivers a powerful warning from history.

Peter Wensierski is a German author, journalist and documentary filmmaker. Prior to reunification, he was a correspondent for the Protestant press service EPD in the German Democratic Republic. In 1985, the government imposed a work and entry ban on him.

BEASTS OF THE SEA

IIDA TURPEINEN

Translated by David Hackston

A stunning debut novel, exploring the lives touched by one of history's most intriguing extinct animals.

1741. The crew of Vitus Bering's ill-starred Great Northern Expedition are shipwrecked off a remote, uncharted island. With no hope of rescue, they give in to despair. Until they discover the flesh of a huge marine mammal that feeds in herds on the kelp in the bay.

1859. The Russian colony of Alaska is on the brink of collapse. Governor Hampus Furuhielm takes solace in the quest for a unique artefact: a complete skeleton of what is now known as Steller's Sea Cow, rumoured to have disappeared a hundred years before.

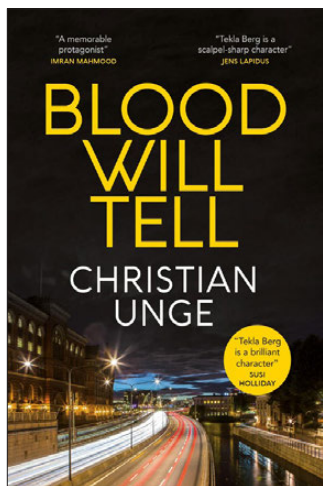

Even extinct, the sea cow will continue to shape lives and destinies, from the woman charged with sketching its likeness from its bones, to the expert egg restorer who will refurbish those same bones a century later.

A fictional tribute to an iconic lost creature, and an adventure through three centuries of scientific exploration, Beasts of the Sea charts the unseen consequences of grand human ambitions and the urge to resurrect what we, in our ignorance, have destroyed.

"Iida Turpeinen's novel is almost Shakespearean in its drama and its set-pieces ... as deep and profound as the sea itself" Philip Hoare

Iida Turpeinen's short stories exploring the relationship between humans and animals won the J. H. Erkko Young Writers' Competition. Beasts of the Sea was the winner of the Helsingin Sanomat Prize, and was shortlisted for the Finlandia Award.

THE BEWITCHING

SILVIA MORENO-GARCIA

Three women in three different eras encounter danger and witchcraft in this multigenerational horror thriller from the author of Mexican Gothic.

Back then, when I was a young woman, there were still witches: that was how Nana Alba always began the stories she told Minerva – stories that have stayed with Minerva all her life. Perhaps that's why she has become a graduate student focused on researching the life of Beatrice Tremblay, an obscure author of macabre tales.

In the course of assembling her thesis, Minerva discovers that Tremblay's most famous novel, The Vanishing, was inspired by a true story: decades earlier, Tremblay attended the same university where Minerva is now studying, and became obsessed with her beautiful and otherworldly roommate . . . who then disappeared.

As Minerva descends ever deeper into Tremblay's manuscript, she begins to sense that the malign force that stalked Tremblay and the missing girl might still haunt the halls of the campus. These disturbing events also echo the stories Nana Alba told about her girlhood in 1900s Mexico, where she had a terrifying encounter with a witch.

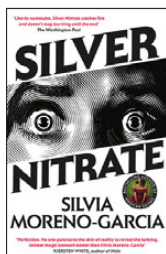

Minerva suspects that the same shadow that darkened the lives of her great-grandmother and Beatrice Tremblay is now threatening her own in 1990s Massachusetts. An academic career can be a punishing pursuit, but it might turn outright deadly when witchcraft is involved.

Silvia Moreno-Garcia is the British Fantasy and Locus Award-winning author of the novels The Seventh Veil of Salome, Silver Nitrate, The Daughter of Doctor Moreau, Mexican Gothic, Gods of Jade and Shadow and many more.

WHEN THERE ARE WOLVES AGAIN

E.J. SWIFT

The extraordinary speculative novel of past, present and future, by the Clarke Award-shortlisted author of The Coral Bones.

Decades from now, two women sit around a fire on Beltane, May Eve, and reflect on their life stories.

Activist Lucy's earliest memories are of living with her grandparents during the 2020 pandemic, and discovering her grandmother's love of birds. Filmmaker Hester, born on the day of the Chernobyl explosion, visits the plant in 2021 to film its feral dog population, and encounters the wilded Exclusion Zone – and a wolf-dog.

Over half a century, their journeys take them from London to Balmoral to Somerset, through protests, family rifts, and personal tragedy. Lucy's path leads to the fight to restore Britain's depleted natural habitats and bring back the species who once shared the island, whilst Hester strives to give a voice to those who cannot speak for themselves. Both dream of a time when wolves once again roam England's forests.

A novel of life and of hope, When There Are Wolves Again is perfect for fans of Clade by James Bradley, The Wolf Border by Sarah Hall, and The Ministry for the Future by Kim Stanley Robinson.

'Confirming E.J. Swift's standing as a writer of urgent, beautifully crafted eco-fiction ... When There Are Wolves Again suggests a new beauty might lie within our reach ... I'm left with a much-needed feeling of optimism' *Anne Charnock, author of *Dreams Before The Start Of Time

E.J. Swift is a speculative fiction writer based in London. Her previous novel, The Coral Bones, was shortlisted for the Arthur C. Clarke Award, the Kitschies' Red Tentacle and the British Science Fiction Association awards.

As Lukan and his companions race to recover the key, they soon find themselves trapped in a web of murder and deceit. In desperation, Lukan requests the help of Lady Marni Volkova, scion to Korslakov's most powerful family.

Yet Lady Marni has secrets of her own. Worse, she has plans for Lukan and his friends. Plans that involve a journey into Korslakov's dark past, in search of a long-lost alchemical formula that could prove to be the city's greatest discovery . . . or its destruction.

LESSONS FROM CATS FOR SURVIVING FASCISM

STEWART 'BRITTLESTAR'
REYNOLDS

Essential cat-based strategies for resisting control and reclaiming power.

Cats, the original masters of stealth, sass, and strategic chaos, have been teaching us survival tactics for centuries — they just haven't been this explicit about it. Until now.

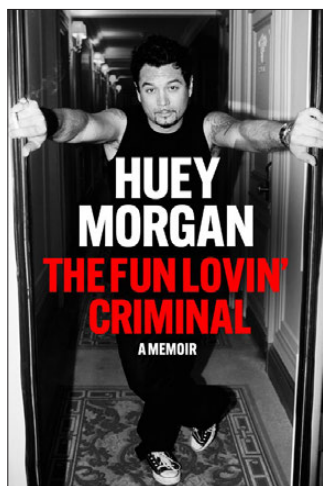

Lessons from Cats for Surviving Fascism lays out the nine essential feline strategies for toppling tyranny. You'll learn to:

- Confuse the oppressors by refusing predictability
- Rest unapologetically because naps are resistance
- Knock over the symbols of power — metaphorically and literally
- Use cuteness as a secret weapon
- Occupy spaces with boldness and purpose

Perfect for anyone who's ever felt powerless, this book is a rallying cry for anyone ready to resist, persist, and pounce.

Brittlestar, a.k.a. Stewart Reynolds, is a popular online media personality over the past decade. Every week, hundreds of thousands of people watch his videos on various social media channels. Some of Brittlestar's followers include Henry Winkler, Ryan Reynolds, Ken Jeong, Rex Chapman, Yvette Nicole Brown, and many other politicians and journalists. Brittlestar videos have been viewed more than a combined 600 million times, allowing him to gain a global fanbase, attend speaking engagements all over North America, receive an invitation to the White House, and engage in collaborations with celebrities such as Gordon Ramsay, Alan Thicke, and the Property Brothers.

THINK LIKE A STOIC

The Ancient Path to a Life Well Lived

KEN MOGI

From the author of The Little Book of Ikigai and The Way of Nagomi comes a brilliant new take on the ancient wisdom of stoicism.

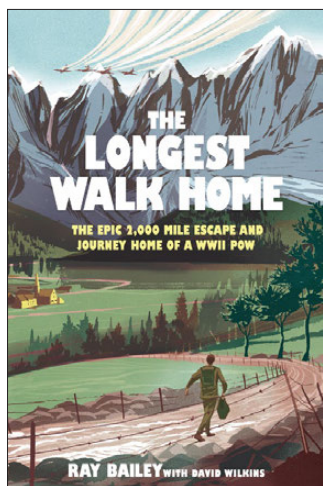

In a world overflowing with abundance and information, the calm and clarity of stoicism has never been more necessary. In this new book, bestselling author Ken Mogi explores the ancient Greek philosophy and its resonance with other cultures around the world, not least his own Japanese perspective.

With his expertise as a neuroscientist, Mogi uncovers the cognitive foundations of the resilience that is so central to stoicism. Rooted in science, he finds in stoicism robust coping strategies for the challenges of modern life, and ways to balance self-discipline with enjoying life's pleasures.

But stoicism is also a mindset that uniquely equips us to handle the future, from global challenges such as the climate emergency to the rise and rise of artificial intelligence. Thinking like a stoic, he argues, can offer us not just a path for personal growth and wisdom, but the key to the future of humanity.

Ken Mogi is a neuroscientist, writer and broadcaster based in Tokyo. The author of over 100 books in Japan, he is also an international bestseller. The Little Book of Ikigai is sold in over 30 languages and has been on the German bestseller list for over 150 weeks, selling over 500,000 copies.

THE LONGEST WALK HOME

The epic 2,000-mile escape of a WWII POW, in his own words

RAY BAILEY with DAVID WILKINS

The recently discovered gripping escape memoir of WWII POW Raymond Bailey.

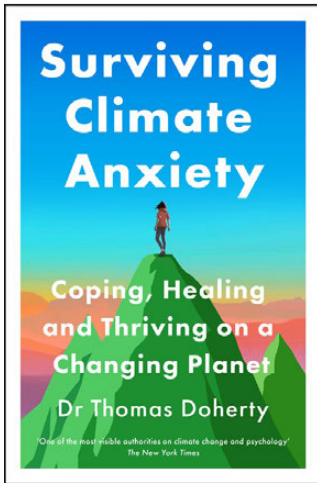

In 1940, Private Raymond Bailey, a 21-year-old Vauxhall motors apprentice, was captured in northern France, becoming a Nazi prisoner of war. But he wouldn't remain one for long...

The Longest Walk Home is the incredible account of his daring 2,000-mile escape across Europe and over the Pyrenees, to the safety of British Gibraltar, and home in time for Christmas. Along the way Ray has nerve-shredding encounters with German soldiers and the Spanish Civil Guard. Often he is exhausted and starving. All that keeps him going is his youthful energy, unfailing optimism, and the kindness of strangers who risk their own safety to help him.

Ray's escape is remarkable, but so too is his memoir. It was written within a year or two of the events it describes, when Ray was just 22, and despite Ray's obvious writing talent it was lost for decades until it was discovered at auction in an unmarked box of WWII memorabilia by David Wilkins. Ray's is a true unheard voice, and one of the last to emerge from this time.

Raymond Bailey was born in 1919, the son of a miner. In 1939 he was called up to fight in the Second World War. After basic training, Ray's battalion was posted to France and thrown into some of the bloodiest fighting of the entire conflict. In June 1940, just a few weeks after arriving in France, Ray found himself among the thousands of British soldiers captured at the catastrophic Battle of St Valery.

ACCORDING TO G

The Autobiography

GERAINT THOMAS

The epic journey of one of Britain's greatest cyclists, Geraint Thomas.

Geraint Thomas is one of Britain's most loved sports stars. He's won Olympic gold medals, finished first, second and third at the Tour de France, and stayed at the top of his sport for almost two decades while other riders and eras have come and gone.

This is the story of his epic journey – from the streets of suburban Cardiff to the Champs-Élysées in Paris, from the mountains of the Alps to the cobbles of northern Europe. The races, the rivals, the triumphs and the magical cycling moments none of us will ever forget.

Geraint Thomas MBE is the winner of the 2018 Tour de France, a double Olympic gold medallist and multiple world champion who has been an indispensable part of Team INEOS since its inception. A Tour de France veteran, he had both completed the entire race with a fractured pelvis and been essential in piloting Chris Froome to the yellow jersey multiple times before his own win.

One of the most popular men in the peloton, he has watched and contributed from the inside as British cycling has been transformed over the past decade. In 2014 he won Commonwealth road race gold in Glasgow and was voted BBC Wales Sports Personality of the Year. In 2015 he became the first British rider to win the E3 Harelbeke: in 2016 he won Paris-Nice and in early 2018 won the Criterium du Dauphine.

SAS THE GREAT TRAIN RAID

The Most Daring SAS Mission of WWII

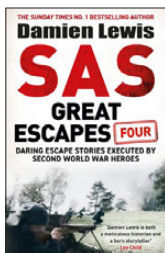

DAMIEN LEWIS

The SAS's boldest mission is Damien Lewis's new bestseller.

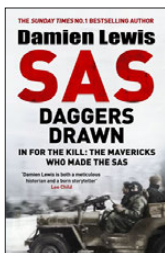

So secret was this mission, the SAS seizure of a train to raid deep into enemy territory to liberate a concentration camp, that it wasn't until 1968 – twenty-seven years after the formation of the SAS – that a short mention of it was made in the Rover and Wizard annual, under the headline 'Who Dares Wins'. No further published record exists.

Bestselling author Damien Lewis has unearthed the full incredible story from long-hidden files and first-hand testimony, his latest elite forces narrative delivering a scintillating tale of bravery, daring and determination which simply beggars belief. This is the SAS at their very finest; there is no other mission like it from the Second World War.

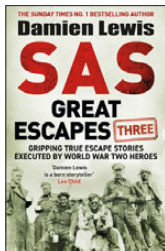

Damien Lewis is a number one bestselling author whose books have been translated into over forty languages worldwide. For decades he worked as a war and conflict reporter for the world's major broadcasters, reporting from across Africa, South America, the Middle and Far East and winning numerous awards. His books include the World War Two classics The Ministry of Ungentlemanly Warfare, SAS Nazi Hunters, SAS Ghost Patrol, SAS Band of Brothers and SAS Forged in Hell. A dozen of his books have been made, or are being made, into movies or TV drama series and several have been adapted as plays for the stage. The Ministry of Ungentlemanly Warfare has been released as a Guy Ritchie movie of the same name. He has raised tens of thousands of pounds for charitable concerns connected with his writings.
